WHOLE NUMBER 78

Great Piano Contest Will Close Soon

Free Piano Has Arrived.

Dec. 9 and 13 Double Vote Days

25,000 Free Votes for the Largest
Amount of Money from Dec. 6 to 15

The COURIER's Great Piano Contest will close soon. The closing date will be announced in next issue of the paper. Only two or three more weeks to work. Every contestant should do her best from now on until the close, for the time is short and every day is worth money. Every day you fail to work you have failed to get a subscription, and therefore have failed to get any votes to help you win one of these beautiful prizes, while perhaps some one else has been gaining on you. Let's make every hour count. If you have worked faithfully all the time surely you can do better as the time is so short. Remember, Twenty-five Thousand Free Votes will be given for the largest amount of money turned in from December 6th to December 15th. All turned in yesterday counts on this offer. Then, next Saturday, Dec. 9th, and Wednesday, Dec. 13th, are double vote days.

The free piano has arrived and is on exhibition at C. W. Womack's store. Every one is invited to call and try it. It is a piano of the highest standard and one that any girl would be glad to own.

A piano, The American Mercantile Co., has agreed to add three prizes to the list. First prize will be $400 piano, second prize $62 sewing machine and $200 rebate certificate. Third prize, gold watch and $175 rebate certificate, and fourth prize $150 rebate certificate.

Any contestant wishing to buy one of these handsome pianos may buy one for $400 less the amount of the rebate certificate that she wins. This is merely offered as a token of appreciation to the contestants and no effort is made on the part of the company to make these sales.

THE PRIZES.

The first prize is a beautiful $400 COTE PIANO and will be on exhibition within a short time. The second prize is a handsome $62 SEWING MACHINE and the third prize is a LADIE'S $25 GOLD WATCH. We are sure that the girls of west Liberty and surrounding country will exert their best efforts to win on of these prizes, for it is not often that such an opportunity is offered.

HOW TO WIN.

The way to win this piano, is by getting the largest number of votes in the contest; votes to be secured by getting SUBSCRIPTIONS to the LICKING VALLEY COURIER. Now the way to win is to enter at once and go right to work and ask your friends to give you their subscriptions and to help you to get others. Get an early start and do not let any one get ahead of you. A scale of votes will be found elsewhere in this paper. The nomination coupon and a free voting coupon will also be printed. Cut these out, fill in your name and send them in. It costs you nothing to enter.

RULES GOVERNING CONTEST.

1. Any person of good repute may enter this contest by filling in the nomination coupon with their own name or by a friend sending in your name. Only one nomination coupon allowing a thousand votes will be allowed.

3. Votes are to be secured by getting subscriptions to the Licking Valley Courier and by clipping the free voting coupon from the paper.

4. All collections must be turned over to the contest manager and he will issue votes to you for the amount received.

5. Votes once issued to one contestant cannot be transferred to another.

6. Contestants are requested to give a receipt for all collections received.

7. All collections must be in this office one week from the date they are secured or votes will not be allowed.

8. Contest manager's signature must be attached to votes before they are of any value in the contest.

9. Any question arising in regard to the contest will be settled by the contest manager and his decision will be final.

10. At the close of the contest the ballots will be counted by a committee of appointed judges and the prizes will be awarded.

11. No ballots can be bought but can only be won by subscriptions to the paper.

12. Contestants are not restricted to any section but may get subscriptions anywhere in the United States.

AN ENJOYABLE TRIP.

On Thanksgiving day ye editor mentioned Mr. Willie Sebastian to his home near Bloomington for a two days bird hunt, and to say that we enjoyed the outing would be putting it mildly. The birds were reasonably plentiful and the hunting fairly good, but the real, old-time hospitality which was extended to us by Uncle Taylor and Aunt Louisa Risner was enough to make the trip an enjoyable one even if we hadn't gotten a single bird or rabbit. Did we eat Roman Beauties? Yes, and beauties they were, too. We also spent one night at Mr. J. M. Sebastian's (Willie's father) where we were shown every courtesy. On the whole it was one of the most enjoyable hunting trips we ever had and we have taken many good ones.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

All persons owing taxes for the year 1911 are hereby notified that they must call at my office and settle same on or before the 19th day of this month (December, 1911,) or their property will be levied on and sold.

I mean business and positively will not wait any longer.

H. B. BROWN,
Sheriff Morgan County.

NOTICE TO DEBTORS.

Having recently lost our entire stock of goods by fire and having about $1000.00 in open accounts on our books which we will be compelled to collect at once. Those owing us will please come in and settle. The insurance which we carried on our goods did not near cover our loss and in order to go into business again we must collect. Please let this notice be sufficient.

Very truly yours,
Day & Davis.

NOTICE TO DEBTORS.

Those who are indebted to me will by this take notice that they must call and settle at once. I have recently suffered considerable loss by fire and I must collect my accounts if I continue in business.

So please do me the kindness to call and settle at once.

Very respectfully,
HENRY COLE.

The Plan Of Universal Peace To End the Horrors Of War

The horrors of war are awful to contemplate; Oh, to imagine the awfulness of this barbaric method of settling disputes, permitted through the ages, by the people, to be practiced by Kings, Emperors, Rulers and Political Law-makers, wholly for their own selfish gratification, because these rulers and their political advisors desire to trample the human rights of other nations, then because this other nation feels and knows it right and honor has been attacked is forced into an awful murderous, indescribable, slaughter of humanity; these countries are forced to engage in war, the winner to be the one who can murder the most good fathers, husbands, sons, brothers, citizens, think of it! murdering, cutting, shooting, bayoneting, our good men, all because of selfish ambitions of these dishonest, grasping, rulers, or political law makers. Why should the innocent citizens and usually it is the poor laboring men be forced into war to slaughter each other, because rulers and political law makers won't be honest and settle disputes fairly. The very awfulness of forcing these thousand yes, millions of good men like you and I, men of hearts full of hopes of a long peaceful life, of a life to be spent with their wives and children, with their friends and countrymen, with hopes of living lives of usefulness to their kindred fellowman, and their country. Oh, the awfulness of this method of settling these fond hopes of life, into an awful phalanx of battle to be shot down, cut down, like insignificant wolves, tigers or the worthless beasts of prey.

It is too barbaric—too awful a crime—for intelligent civilized humanity to longer permit war to be practiced on earth. It is time to look upon the Admiral, the Captain, the Major General, the Colonel, the thirteen-inch cannon of "civilization?" the awful Machine Guns, as, only relics of a barbaric age.

All disputes of a nation should be forced into trial before the Hague Arbitration Court, or before an International Court, to be created for the sole purpose of settling disputes between nations, four or five nations, can by agreement force all other nations to stop war and resort to arbitral judgement. Nations have no more right to enter into war and murder men in order to settle their disputes than you and I have to go out in the commons with bayonets and swords and cut each other down because your hen layed eggs in my cow manger, and I used the eggs.

THE REMEDY

There is a very simple, sane, practical method to stop war, if the stiff-necked world will put aside some prehistoric idea of "no precedence" of established ethics and codes, etc. Let's get sane, practical and positive and at the cost of all this "Tommy-Rot" of established military "rottenness" STOP WAR AT ONCE.

Let there be organized, the International Peace League, with great men of ability as its officers and directors, to be selected from all nations. The act of this will, then be International, no one nation responsible for its acts. This should be organized with full power to take, own and control countries, states and nations, armies and navies. It, should have the most liberal Constitution ever written on the globe, it should be organized on a military and naval footing, with an enrolled membership of volunteers for service in its army and in its navy, from every nation on the globe. These to be well organized in their respective countries, to receive only salaries to pay expenses when needed, but when they are put into actual service, then, pay should be given, as well as any nation pays.

FLAT WOODS.

Hav'n't seen anything from this neck of the woods in the Courier for some time and we want to be represented in our county paper.

Bird hunting is the order of the day, and the feather tribe is scarce.

We have church every second Saturday and Sunday by Rev. W. L. Gevedon.

The health of this part is good.

John A. Henry met with a painful accident last Sunday. His mule ran against the fence with him and came very near breaking his leg, which will lay him up a few days.

B. F. May and better half visited J. A. Henry and wife Sunday.

Lou J. Henry sold her proper-

SILVER HILL.

If you will allow me space I desire through the columns of the Courier to express my thanks for the many complimentary remarks and letters received congratulating me regarding an article dated Nov. 10, 1911, and which appeared in the Courier of recent date as to the result of the recent election. I wish to say further that that article contained my honest convictions, and now, boys, let us pull off our political clothes and take on an American suit, make one long straight and altogether pull. Get on board the old ship of State with Captain McCreary at the wheel, steer clear of snags and boulders up the broad River of Progress, and bye and bye reaching the Land of Corn and Wine, and enjoy the happy reflections of a well directed voyage and work, bathe in the peaceful River of Happiness and bask in the beautiful sun light of an unexcelled and glorious prosperity.

F. J. and J. C. Hamilton have just completed another school house on lower Sand Lick. This makes three under the administration of Supt. Barker.

There is quite a series of meetings being held at the Union Church at Dingus. W. F. Lykins, of Grassy, is leading the revival. Much interest is being manifested. Several additions.

Rabbit hunting seems to be the order of the day.

PANAMA.

I suppose you all are aware of the weather we have had recently. It is reported to have been the coldest November we have ever had.

John M. Lykins and J. F. Gevedon from Grassy attended church at this place Sunday.

J. M. Gevedon and C. P. Gevedon are making staves for J. H. Castle.

Mrs. J. H. Castle, son and two daughters have just returned from visiting relatives near Lexington.

Marion Long, of Wolf county, is visiting here.

We believe that Governor McCreary will feel good on the 12th inst. over his inauguration, and he may rest assured that multitudes of Kentuckians who feel the same, on the faith that we will have one of the best Governor's Kentucky has ever had. If we could succeed in electing a train of officers on down the line, even to the county, we would feel more like we were governed by the people rather than a ring or clique.

I don't know whether this writing will reach the office of the press or not. My recent writings have failed to reach its destination. There is something wrong with the Postal Service or a screw loose somewhere. Uncle Sam needs to be informed about it. Don't you think he does?

So let us keep up the good work by handing the editor $1 and say enter my name on your subscription list. It will give you a paper of interest to read these cold winter days.

BOGA.

BLAZE.

On Sunday evening, Nov. 26, at about 9 o'clock, after an illness of several months duration, death claims his victim and carries into the mysterious realms of the unknown the spirit of Mr. Leander M. Lewis.

Mr. Lewis had been afflicted for several months with stomach trouble, lung trouble and brights disease, yet when death came it was unexpected, for he had expressed the belief on Saturday morning that he was much better than he had been for some time. But the change for the worse came on Sunday morning and he passed quietly away that night.

Mr. Lewis was raised in Morgan county, and he has made this his home county.

He was a soldier of the Civil War, having espoused the cause of the Union and fought on that side. He was an honest, upright citizen, and one who was loved by all who knew him. He was one of Morgan county's best men. A wife and ten children (five boys and five girls, all grown and married) survive him.

W. H. LEWIS.

BLAZE.

You must excuse me, Mr. Editor, for my failure to appear as a contributor for a few weeks. The fact is I have had to get wood and feed the stock for Jim Will Brown and Jesse B. Cassidy during their stay on Salt river.

James Ratliff and wife have returned from their semi-annual migration to Illinois.

Deputy Sheriff T. J. Perry has closed in on his last round of tax collecting. Uncle Tom says that the time has come when nothing but the "jingle of the guinea" will be accepted.

The boys have been busy with their rabbit guns since the game season opened. In fact, they have about "de-rabited" Ditony.

A move has been instituted by some of our enterprising citizens and Supt. Barker to unite several schools contiguous to Blaze into one magnificent graded school. Let no one lag back in this movement. Some are afraid of an extra tax. Shame on such! What do a few dollars amount to in comparison with so magnificent an enterprise?

Married on the 27th, John Fuggett to Miss Nancy Sergeant. The groom is a son of "Billy" Fuggett and the bride is the daughter of the Rev. Green A. Sergeant. Both come from good families.

DITONIAN.

LAST NOTICE!

Unless those who are owing us come in and make settlements AT ONCE we will be compelled to enforce collection. Our business must be closed and ALL persons knowing themselves indebted to us, either by note or account, must come in and make settlement. We trust this will be heeded at once and save us further trouble.

Startling Revelation.

The most startling development however, occurred last week when the Stanley investigating committee got hold of Wharton Barker of Philadelphia a well known banker. Mr. Barker stated that a few weeks before the Presidential election of 1904 he was visiting New York on business and in talking with one of the great money kings of that city was told that the railroads had a deal with Roosevelt by which they were to support and elect him and on the other hand he was to approve a law that looked to be an important railroad reform but which in reality was only a bluff. This law was to be so drawn as to permit pooling, to do away with free passage which had grown to be intolerable and a few other minor provisions. While this is the first time the information has been given to the public it has nevertheless, dawned on the public of this country that Roosevelt won his election by a corrupt deal.

There are some people in West Liberty who are not subscribers of the COURIER who would not have a copy of the paper in their home, no not under any circumstances; who even go so far as to try to dissuade others from subscribing when they are asked to do so by one of the lady contestants for the piano; who grow exceedingly caustic in their denunciations of the COURIER and its policies. But notwithstanding all this a copy borrowed from an unwilling lender, we dare say, is frequently to be found within the portals of the castle which shelters these plumeless knights.

Well, we would like very much to have an X-ray photograph of the Ego of the man who could be thus influenced against subscribing far his county paper. There is nothing strange, nothing startling about the efforts being put forth by the paper borrowers to keep others from subscribing, but honest injun, how does this strike you, Mister Man, who was asked to subscribe and who was deterred from doing so by the denunciations of those into whose homes borrowed copies are sometimes found?

We little fellows who have no religion except the Golden Rule, who profess nothing that we do not possess, who make an honest effort against odds to make a decent living and to be, at least, half way respectable, are cursed and kicked, maligned and ostracised because we are presumptuous enough to believe that we have certain inherent rights and because we sometimes make bold to speak of them. We are denounced as obstinate and stubborn because we do not attend church when as a matter of fact we have been told in a way that is more convincing than spoken or written words that we were not welcome in the houses of the Lord where God's elect (?) are wont to assemble for worship. Yes, we are expected to do things, worldly as we are reported to be, that the professed followers of Christ refuse to do. Yea, more is demanded of us than is required of those who, according to their professions, are the mainstays of the church—whose examples should be a shining light, illuminating the pathway of the benighted. Yes, we are expected to make amends for a wrong which we didn't commit—didn't come within a mile of committing, while every sentiment of right and justice demands that the amends be made by those who are willing to prostitute their religion in order to encompass the downfall of a fellow mortal.

Have the taxpayers a right to know about the financial condition of Morgan county? We presume that they have or else the law would not provide for the publication of a statement of the fiscal affairs of the county, a list of the claims allowed, etc.

This has not been done as yet; an oversight on the part of those responsible we suppose.

HE WAS WILLING TO WATCH

Burglar Wanted His Pal to Tackle the House With the "Load" Key.

The man with his coat collar turned up, and his derby pitched down over his eyes, was slouching along in the shadow of the building, suddenly beckoned to the man on the other side of the street. "Here's an easy one, Pete," he growled, hoarsely.

"Where's an easy one?" snarled Pete.

"This here house. It's like taking gum from a stenographer that's fixin' her hair. Some chump has gone away an' left his latch key in this door." Pete took a swift look at the house and began to back up. "You can go to it," he said. "I don't want in on it."

"Are youse nutty?"

"Naw, I ain't nutty. But de feller wot lives dere is a low down sneak widout no feelin' fer nobody, an' I don't want nothin' ter do with 'im. No, I don't know him, but I'm next ter his name. He sticks that key in dere to catch suckers like you. Dere's a wire on dat key, an' a million-volt battery attached to dat wire. I wouldn't touch it if yer'd gimme de First National bank. But go ahead—'I'll be across de street watchin' wot happens."

Nothing happened.

FIGHT IS BITTER

MAINE MAKES A DESPERATE EFFORT TO FREE ITSELF FROM PROHIBITION YOKE.

Paid Agitators Are Brought into the State to Fight Against People.

Augusta, Me.—The fight to take the prohibition amendment out of the constitution of the state of Maine has reached its climax of bitterness. The election will be held on September 11, when Maine is expected to throw off the yoke of prohibition under which it has staggered for sixty-five years. State-wide prohibition was adopted statutorily by Maine in 1854 and put in the constitution in 1884. Since Maine has adopted prohibition the movement has spread throughout the south and some of the western states, and radical prohibitionists speak of nationwide and world-wide prohibition. Despite their rosy optimism on the prohibition question the states which have tried it are gradually returning to a more sane solution of the temperance question. With the return of Maine to the legalized saloon it is generally conceded that other states will quickly follow her lead. The fight in Maine for the retention of the prohibition amendment is being conducted by the Christian Civic League of Maine.

Paid Anti-Saloonists.

This league is being assisted by the paid talent of the Anti-Saloon league, which has sent into the state twelve of its hired reformers. These are led by Purley A. Baker, superintendent of the league; Howard H. Russell; Judge E. Z. Blair, of Adams county, Ohio; G. W. Morrow, former Michigan superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, who was caught colonizing voters in a Michigan election and dismissed from that state league, and others equally as notorious.

The fight has been extremely bitter. One Sunday-school association adopted a unanimous resolution, declaring "that any person who votes, or in any way influences others to vote directly or indirectly to so amend our constitution as to admit of a license of the liquor traffic, high or low, local or state-wide, is equally guilty of giving his neighbor drink and putting the bottle to him as the rum seller, and the woe of the prophet of God is upon him."

Woman Leads Fight.

The leader of the prohibition campaign is Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, national president of the W. C. T. U. She is a resident of Portland, Me. Under her direction the whole state has been flooded with campaign literature, and the prohibition side is being fought by church women, Sunday-schools and women and children.

The anti-prohibition campaign is conducted by the Maine Non-Partisan Local Self-Government league, which is composed of men of the highest standing and backed by the four leading newspapers of the state. Nothing on the fact that the Maine fight for the retention of the prohibition amendment in the constitution is the bitterest that has ever been waged in the country. They regard it as a sad commentary on prohibition, that after sixty-five years' trial the prohibitionists of the state have to put up the greatest fight of their lives in order to retain their prohibitory amendment.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE AND MAINE CIVIC LEAGUE FALL OUT.

Washington, D. C.—The reports from Augusta, Me., and Boston state that the Maine Civic league, which is conducting the fight for the retention of the prohibition amendment in the Maine constitution, and the Anti-Saloon league of America are at odds. The latter league has twelve of its paid workers in the state of Maine assisting in the campaign. Mrs. Stevens, president of the W. C. T. U., and the leader of the prohibition faction, refused to give her support to the imported paid orators of the league.

The league, it is said, then attempted to get the Civic league to raise $25,000 for the Anti-Saloon league's part in the fight. The amount that finally was agreed on is not known, but the Anti-Saloon league and the Maine Civic league have been working hand in hand.

Rev. S. E. Nicholson, Washington superintendent of the league, is denying the report from Maine.

HEADS OF MAINE'S MANUFACTURING PLANTS AGAINST PROHIBITION.

Bangor, Me.—The heads of practically all of the great manufacturing plants of Maine are a unit in condemning prohibition conditions as they exist in the state at present, and asking for regulatory laws under a constitutional license provision.

Fred W. Ayer, president of the Eastern Manufacturing Co., which employs 631 men at its South Brewer mills, believes there would be less suffering among the men and their families, and that his company would get more and better work from its employees, under a system of license regulation.

Mr. Ayer has been opposed to the prohibition amendment for over forty years.

"Maine has made a fool of herself," he says, "and has committed enough crimes through the prohibitory law in the last sixty odd years to stop it, and try something else."

Power of England's Primate.

The archbishop of Canterbury is "primate of all England." He is endowed with the right to grant special licenses to marry and also appoints notaries public. It is he who grants dispensations to clerks of the church to hold more than one benefice, subject to certain restrictions imposed by statute in recent years. The archbishop ranks as the first peer of the realm after the princes of the royal blood, and has the right to crown the sovereign, and to other secular prerogatives.

STAGE MEDICINE WAS REAL

Veteran Actor For Years Played Invalid's Part and Took Remedy for Indigestion.

"Taking medicine on the stage is not only realistic, it is real," said an old actor. "Anyhow, it was so in my case. Here is a copy of a prescription that I had renewed eighty-three times in the three years that I played the part of an invalid. I really did suffer most of that time with indigestion, and the medicine was prescribed by my physician. He had been hammering away at me for months before I undertook the part, trying to persuade me to take something."

"You got to take a dose of something in that second act," he said, "or why not make it real medicine and cure your stomach trouble and earn your salary at the same time?"

"That seemed sensible advice. I got the prescription made up, and although I have eaten many a fake meal on the stage and have drunk many a pint of fake wine, never once have I taken a dose of fake medicine."

Suffering.

This world would be a dreary monotone without the mountains and the lakes, the rivers and the valleys, which have come through nature's great upheavals. The sufferings of earth make it the more glorious. Men is much like this in his own experience. The blessings of life have come in large measure because of the heart aches and the agonies of men and women. They have given of their life blood so that others might be enriched. This has been their crucifixion. But out of their affliction has come a new life—grown from the seed of the best that died in the old self. This has been their resurrection.—Charles Stelzle

A Discerning Person.

Mrs. Martin's new parlormaid, Susan, appears to be not only extremely well trained and all that a correct parlormaid should be but also a young woman of unusual penetration. When Mrs. Martin's acquaintance, Mrs. Davis, comes to call on afternoons, Susan ascends the stairs to her mistress's room and declares to that rather astonished lady that "Mrs. Davis, one of the gentry, is in the drawing room."

On the other hand when Mr. Smith, the book agent, or Mr. Jones, the piano tuner, rings the front door bell and sends up a card, Susan is not to be deceived, and announces, "Mr. Jones or Mr. Smith, not one of the gentry!" Mrs. Martin is at a loss to account for these distinctions.

CHARACTERS OUT OF SCRAPS

Thackeray's Personages Were Patched, Seldom to Be Recognized as Portraits of Actual Persons.

Thackeray rarely drew an out-and-out portrait, though he sometimes ventured on a recognizable caricature of people he detested. In a "Roundabout Paper" called "De Finibus" he asserts that he creates his personages out of "scraps, heel-taps, odds and ends of characters." Lady Anne Thackeray Ritchie corroborates this. "My father," she writes in answer to a private request for information, "scarcely ever put real characters into his books, though he, of course, found suggestions among the people with whom he was thrown. I have always thought there was something of himself as Warrington. Perhaps the serious part of his nature was vaguely drawn to that character. There was also a little likeness to his friend, Edward Fitzgerald, who always lived a very solitary life."

Warrington, indeed, may be taken as a typical instance of how Thackeray made up his own personages out of "odds and ends of characters." In the circumstances of his life, Fitzgerald was the closest of all prototypes that have been suggested. Like Warrington, he had married beneath him though not so far beneath as Warrington; he had found his wife utterly ungenial and had left her in comfortable circumstances to make his own way in London in poverty and obscurity. To add the final touch of pathos, Thackeray painted Warrington's abandoned wife as a bad woman, which Mrs. Fitzgerald was not, but only a very foolish and snobbish one. Besides the originals already suggested, James T. Field hints at a fourth in Barry Cornwall, and Gen James Grant Wilson says Thackeray took a Philadelphia that Warrington was an English professor of Latin—William S. Walsh, in Columbian.

To Clean Oil Paintings.

To cleanse the surface of oil paintings, and remove dust and soil marks, first dust the surface thoroughly of light particles of dust. Then prepare a bath of warm water and add there-to a grated potato grated fine, and well rub this over the paintings till clean. Afterward wash over with a light suds of warm water and castile soap, using a sponge, and finally rinse in clean soft water and dry with a soft cloth or cambric.

Lander Poems Found.

The Walter Savage Landor exhibition at the London library is of great interest, comprising portraits, manuscripts and first editions from the important Landor collection of S. Wheeler, says the London Times.

The most interesting of the literary relics is a volume of manuscript poems and corrections by Landor which he himself described on a slip of paper (here preserved) as "swappings from under the study table." The papers in this volume were taken from Landor's writing desk more than thirty years after his death.

Other poems are unpublished, and these there are to be found the original drafts of lines which appeared in print in an altered form. Other documents include a will written by himself in which he bequeathed pictures to Robert Browning and Mrs. Lynn Linton.

Dust on the Family Bible.

Rev. Patrick Bradley, preaching upon the prevalent neglect of the Bible, said: "What I have walked through the different families of my congregation, I have found too little use made of the sacred volume which contains our right and title to a happy immortality. Many plead that they cannot have the Bible always in their hands. True, but in many cases I find family Bibles lying so unused that, with my finger, I could write damnation upon the covers of them! These things ought not to be."

No Vagabond Currents There.

A system for the protection of gas and water mains against vagabond currents is in use at Karlsruhe. This is formed by placing at suitable spots electrodes in the ground and connecting them to the positive pole of a low tension source of electricity (an accumulator or dynamo), while the pipes to be protected are connected to the negative pole.

YOUR WEIGHT AND HEALTH

Better Be Over the Average When Young and Under When Old, Say Insurance Men.

At the annual meeting of the Association of Life Insurance Directors some facts were brought out in regard to the best build of men and women from the insurance men's point of view.

In the New York Life Insurance company efforts have been going on for many years to determine the exact influence of build on longevity, says the Medical Record. It is suggested that a mistake has been made in assuming that the average build of any age is the most favorable build that that age or the build from which it may be expected the most favorable mortality will be sustained.

For instance, figures show that at the age of twenty all risks from 24 per cent. overweight to 10 per cent. underweight are better than average risks. Does it not then seem probable that the point of most favorable build is about half way from 24 per cent. overweight to 10 per cent. underweight, or in the neighborhood of 7 per cent. overweight? If this inference is correct the tables now used are too favorable to the underweights by about 7 per cent.

At age sixty, on the other hand, the super-standard risks begin at about 8 per cent. overweight and extend to about 22 per cent. underweight. The mean point between these extremes lies at about 7 per cent. underweight and the conclusion appears evident that the present table based on average weights is too high by about 7 per cent. At the intermediate ages, 30 to 50, the mean point lies not at the zero but on the heavy side of the scale at the age of thirty and at the lightweight side of the zero at the age of fifty, and only at the age of 40 is the table apparently correct.

Mechanical Lightning Calculator.

The clerical staffs of many of the big insurance companies have of late years been considerably reduced by the employment of mechanical calculators.

One of these, the invention of a German, is a compact little affair resembling a music box. It may be made to perform almost instantaneously the most portentous sums in addition, subtraction, multiplication by one or two factors, division, squaring and cubing. It is required, for instance, to multiply $31,976 by 924. The first factor is set by touching little knobs representing $31,976.

To multiply by the other factor you turn a handle four times, push a long slide one place and turn the handle twice, then push the slide another place forward and turn the handle nine times. The long multiplication is now done without the possibility of error so far as the machine is concerned and the dial shows $91,144,900. In the same mechanical way may be done all the other arithmetical processes.

Diplomatic Menus.

An interesting collection has just been added to the museum in connection with the French ministry of foreign affairs. The collection is the gift of M. Jean Fabre, and it consists of menus of dinners and luncheons given by French diplomatic representatives abroad during the last 50 years. What a boon this will be to chefs if they are permitted to consult this collection, which is contained in 40 albums, and it is quite within the range of possibility that diplomats will not be above drawing inspiration from the books. We believe the Austrian emperor has a somewhat similar collection.—London Globe.

Averts Awful Tragedy.

Timely advice given Mrs. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis. (R. No. 1) prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's new discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote, "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." Is the World Growing Better?

Many things are to prove that it is. The way thousands are trying to help others is proof. Among them is Mrs. W. W. Gould, of Pittsfield, N. H. Finding good health by taking Electric Bitters, she now advises other sufferers, everywhere, to take them. "For years I suffered with stomach and kidney trouble," she writes. "Every medicine I used failed till I took Electric Bitters. But this great remedy helped me wonderfully. They'll help any woman. They're the best tonic and finest liver and kidney remedy that's made. WINCHESTER
Repeating Shotguns
USED IN THE U. S. ARMY.
The U. S. Army authorities know a gun; that is why, when they decided to equip some troops with repeating shotguns, they selected the Winchester in preference to all other makes. The experts of the U. S. Ordnance Board also know a gun; that's why, after submitting a Winchester Repeating Shotgun to all sorts of tests, they pronounced it safe, sure, strong and simple. If you want a shotgun—buy the one whose strength and reliability led the U. S. Army authorities to select it and the U. S. Ordnance Board to endorse it—that's the Winchester.

Are You Nervous?

What makes you nervous? It is the weakness of your womanly constitution, which cannot stand the strain of the hard work you do. As a result, you break down, and ruin your entire nervous system. Don't keep this up! Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from purely vegetable ingredients. It acts gently on the womanly organs, and helps them to do their proper work. It relieves pain and restores health, in a natural manner, by going to the source of the trouble and building up the bodily strength.

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Grace Fortner, of Man, W. Va., took Cardui. This is what she says about it: "I was so weak and nervous, I could not bear to have anyone near me. I had fainting spells, and I lost flesh every day. The first dose of Cardui helped me. Now, I am entirely cured of the fainting spells, and I cannot say enough for Cardui, for I know it saved my life." It is the best tonic for women. Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to women? Take Cardui. It will help you. Ask your druggist.

When? Not What? Recently, when there was a more or less chaotic condition existing in the administration of the New York police department, two "old line" police captains were discussing the new order of things. Shaking his head disconsolately, one of them waited: "What are we coming to? What are we coming to?" "It's not 'what are we coming to' returned the other, 'It's 'when are we coming to?'"

All in One Second. The way of writing modern romances—Albert rode with the speed of an arrow to the garden, sprang like the wind from his steed, climbed like a squirrel over the hedge, writhed like a snake to the arbor, crept up to her all unseen, threw himself passionately at her feet, swore frantically that he would shoot himself; was, however, immediately heard, seated himself in blessed delight at her side, snuggled her bosom, swam in a sea of bliss—all this was the work of a second!

COUNTIES VOTE WET

SCIOTO AND LAWRENCE COUNTIES IN OHIO REPUDIATE PROHIBITION AFTER THREE YEARS TRIAL.

BOTH GIVE BIG MAJORITIES

Of Five Ohio Counties Voting on mains Wet; Three Go Wet and One Stays Dry.

Columbus, O.—Three counties in Ohio which have voted on county option under the Rose county option law have determined that for the next three years the "bootlegger" and "blind tiger" keeper shall not wax fat from the profits of his illicit business within their county's borders.

Scioto county on October 25th repudiated prohibition by a majority of 1,274 votes. Three years ago the saloons were voted out of Scioto county by 231 majority. The total vote in the recent election was over 11,000 and was the largest ever polled in the county. Portsmouth, the county seat, gave a wet majority of 1,431 as against its former wet majority of 141.

Not only did the dries lose heavily in the city, but expected gains in the county failed to materialize. Out of 25 precincts outside the city but five gave the dries small gains. New Boston, which is the second largest corporation in the county, increased its former wet majority from 46 to 125 votes. The wets lost but 6 of the 25 city precincts, and these by small majorities.

The dries adopted the usual election tactics. Church bells were tolled all day and women held hourly prayer meetings. The precinct of Judge Blair, noted dry advocate, election purifier and anti-saloon league speaker, went wet. Former Probate Judge Sikes, who handled the wet campaign, although himself a teetotaler, reduced the former dry majority in his precinct an even 50 votes. The wet campaign was backed by a business men's organization consisting of over 200 members. They claimed that prohibition has been a failure in Scioto county.

The dries find their greatest surprise in the failure of Evangelist Billy Sunday to stem the tide after having been brought to Portsmouth for his celebrated "booze sermon" last Monday night. Seven thousand voters, at this meeting, pledged their ballots to keep Scioto county in the dry column. At the election the dries cast barely 5,000 votes in the entire county.

After one of the most strongly contested campaigns in the history of Lawrence county, the business men's association won over the local option league in a wet and dry fight by over 400 majority. Ironton, the county seat, gave the wets a majority of 136. The county three years ago voted dry by over 1,500 and the city dry by 68.

Besides local speakers, the dries imported speakers from other cities and towns to bolster up their campaign. Among the speakers were Wayne B. Wheeler, ex-Secretary of the U. S. Department of Justice, and Mrs. Lulu Shepard. The Women's Christian Temperance Union took great interest in the fight and paraded the principal streets of the city on the morning of election day leading many school children and headed by two brass bands.

Shelby county, which recently voted wet under the Rose county option law, retains saloons and completes the trio of Ohio counties which this year have voted on the liquor question. The return of Scioto and Lawrence counties to the wet column is taken as an evidence of the reversal of opinion in Ohio counties from county option to local option.

Athens county went wet Oct. 28th by one thousand majority and over six hundred dry majority in Meigs county was wiped out.

HAULING LIQUOR OVERLAND FAILS.

Bootlegger on Way to the Muskogee Fair is Captured By Officers.

Muskogee, Okla.—Out on the prairie between Muskogee and Kefton, deputy sheriffs at midnight Sunday captured a bootlegger with 432 quarts of whisky which he was hauling overland from Kefton to Muskogee.

A short time ago the Muskogee officers stationed a policeman at every freight depot in town with instructions to arrest any baggage or transfer man who attempted to take liquor out of the railroad warehouses. This effectively blocked the delivery of liquor and the railroads commenced to ship the liquor back, after holding it a certain length of time.

The Muskogee fair is on this week and the bootleggers were at their wits end to involve a plan whereby they could get liquor into town, as there will be a tremendous demand for it during the fair, and at any price asked.

Henry Ward decided he would get his liquor overland. So he had thirty-six cases shipped to Kefton, a small station ten miles out of Muskogee. Saturday night he decided to bring it in. The officers got a tip and went out six miles to a point on the Kefton road they knew Ward would have to pass and waited. About midnight the liquor-laden wagon showed up. Ward was arrested and with his cargo of liquor brought into Muskogee.

With dry counties changing back to wet every few days the indications are that the long drouth is about to become history.

Illuminate the Sea's Depths.
Many deep-sea animals are sufficiently phosphorescent to supply over definite areas of sea bottom enough illumination to render visible the colors of the animals themselves.

Few Birds in Indian Seas.
The absence of sea-birds forms a singular trait in the character of the Indian seas; scarcely a single living thing appears in the sky above, or the sea below, betwixt Bombay and the Indies.

Surprised at City's Size.
A Colorado ranchman was paying his first visit to New York, and a friend took him down to the Battery and then proposed that they walk up Broadway. They kept walking along excited and jostled. The ranchman all at once exclaimed: "After about a mile of it, he became tired and ceased talking, but kept plodding along. But after an hour's walking he took his friend by the arm and stopped him."

"I say, Bill," he said, looking up the street with a weary gaze, "is it town all the way to the 'Rocky mountains'?"

Faith From the Devil.
A school master, when reading from the church catechism, asked a boy, "Where do we get the articles of our faith from?" The boy hesitated a girl answered—"from the bible."

"Quite right," said the master. "Now, William, where do we get the articles of our faith from?" The boy, having only indistinctly heard the sound, answered—"from the devil!"

Posing and Proposing.
That German photographer who says American girls don't know how to pose must have got an unsatisfactory negative from one of them.

Thrill.
It's a wise child that resembles its richest relative.

There will be regret everywhere except in "loan shark" circles that the Appellate Division of the Second Department has found itself forced to reverse a decision of the First Department and to hold that if a person signs a grotesquely foolish, but not illegal, contract, he must abide by its consequences, though they be disastrous to himself.

Of course, it is true, as Justice Woodward writes, "it is not the province of the law to make it impossible for people to make foolish or improvident bargains," but it does seem that a bargain, though legal, might be so utterly foolish, so grossly improvident, as to justify a court in assuming that it was made under a misapprehension of its terms and therefore void or voidable.

This assumption would be especially reasonable in the case of bargains made by needy, reckless or ignorant borrowers who apply for money to the lenders who have so well earned the name of "sharks." The application of that name is, indeed, a slander on a fish as deserving of respect as any other, and guilty of no crime except that of being big enough to make voracity which he shares with every other fish dangerous to men. But "sharks" these lenders have been called, and the reputation which is cruelly unjust to the real sharks is not a bit too bad for the usurers whose contracts the court considered, severely characterized and upheld.

The decision will discourage the virtuous and rejoice the wicked. Therefore there simply must be something the matter with it, sound as does logic on which it is based seem to be.—New York Times.

The choir was sweetly singing in the church across the way; The scent of the orange blossom filled the air. The bells were gaily ringing; 'twas a happy wedding-day, And all the world seemed free from pain or care.

A blushing maiden slender was to be his future mate, His eyes were warm and tender as he whispered, "Darling Kate!" She smiled a smile of gladness, for perhaps she does not know a groom made and broken long ago.

While one bell was chiming, its sweet notes were rhyming, A story of joy to impart, The other was tolling, its sad note unrolling

The tale of a poor broken heart. One told of a wedding, the other was spreading The news of a soul that had flown Two choirs were singing, two Church bells were ringing, And each told a tale of its own.

How often he had wandered with the other far away, And how her little heart had throbbed with pride; How often they had pondered o'er a future wedding day, When he would come and claim her for his bride.

How often did he hold her while the light was growing dim, How often he had told her she was just the girl him;

And so she watched and waited for his coming o'er the lea, Till the master called and said, "come unto me."

Hold Yourself in Reserve.
Reserve is power. He is wise who lives a good part of his life inside of himself. Too much speech is weakness. It is better to hold much of ourselves in reserve, to be discerned by degrees, and never to the utmost limit.

In Glorious Italy.
It has been observed that in Italy the memory does more than the eye. Scarcely a stone is turned up that has not some historical association, an event or modern, that may not be said to have rolled under it.

When All Will Be Rich.
Hop Sing is a Chinese laundryman with a cheerful, though somewhat unusual philosophy. After bewailing the hard times and lack of business, he added, smilingly: "Bimeby everybody be rich, velly rich, bimeby." "How's that?" "Alla poor people got no money; no can eat. Then alla poor people die."
